

Stephanie Henderson

Stephanie Henderson is a painter who works primarily in hard-edge abstraction. Her work revolves around bold, saturated color and how colors communicate with each other and affect the observer. Her paintings contain forms that are simple, allowing the colors to express themselves without complications.

Henderson's work reveals focus, precision, and disciplined shapes coexisting with playful color combinations. She enjoys the challenge of painting perfectly clean lines freehand with a brush. Stephanie embraces the belief that color alters mood, outlook, and brings joy to life.

Stephanie lives and works in Atlanta, GA. A native of Thomasville, Georgia, Stephanie earned a B.A. in English from University of Virginia and an M.A. in Journalism from the University of Georgia. Her work is shown in select galleries across the US.
